

Let's make a recap of everything that was announced this month!

→ Like Eirik in his letter, you might want to kick some of your characters in Dead In Vinland at some point in the game, for various reasons. However, they will try to negotiate to stay. So, will you give them a second chance or will you send them to a certain death?

→ We also talked about the Attrition system! You won't be able to get infinite resources by overusing certain stations. For example, if you use the harvesting camp too much, you will get less and less fruits!
